HAGUE, March 4.

THE last letters from Brest, Rochefort and Orient, advise, that orders are received from Verſailles to ſtop the building of line of battle and other ſhips of war in thoſe three ports.—There cannot be a ſtronger proof, that peace is not likely to be interrupted, and that their politicians, who perſevere in predicting an approaching war, will not find their prophecies verified.

According to letters from Trieſte, there were laſt week upwards of 250 merchant ſhips in that port, which did not dare to venture to ſea. The court is purchaſing large merchantmen to be armed and ſtationed at the entrance of the port; this ſmall maritime force is expected to give greater ſecurity than the fortifications, becauſe they will be more capable of defending the city from bombardment.

Sir James Harris, envoy extraordinary from Great-Britain, has been in conference with the deputies of the lords deputies of the ſtates general on the ſubject of the tripple alliance projecting between England, Pruſſia, and the Republic.

NEW-YORK, May 5.

Extract of a letter from Algiers, January 20,

"The St. Gartrude, a Spaniſh frigate, commanded by M. Fouguion, arrived here from Cadiz the 16th of September with the whole ſum of money owing to this regency by the king of Spain ſince the month of April, for all Spaniſh ſlaves, and the money which M. d'Aſpilly had promiſed to many chiefs of this regency but had not given them.

"By the ſame frigate the dey has ſent back many preſents to the catholic king, and has charged the Spaniſh conſul to go and preſent them to his majeſty from him. They conſiſt of three ſtallions and three Barbary mares, richly capariſoned, with ſaddles embroidered with gold, and houſings of gold cloth; two lions, two tygers, an hyæna, four antelopes, and two oſtriches; ſix tents inlaid with coral, ſix pair of piſtols, four betagans, or Turkiſh ſabres, one of them mounted with gold, beſides many woollen covers, ſilk girdles, &c."

PHILADELPHIA, April 28.

We have at length procured the New-York Journal of the 24th March laſt, to which one of our correſpondents had reference in our paper of the 16th inſtant, and now take the earlieſt opportunity of laying before our readers, all that have reached us on the ſubject of the reply of the general court of Maſſachuſetts to governor Hancock's late ſpeech.

Extract of a letter from Maſſachuſetts, dated March 29, 1788.

"You have undoubtedly ſeen our governor's ſpeech, and his encomiums therein on the propoſed conſtitution; to which an anſwer, or rather echo, was prepared, and reported to the legiſlature. The rebels in the houſe of repreſentatives were highly exaſperated at the meaſure, and prepared an amendment. This terrified the federaliſts, quite cry'd themſelves, (that is the gentry who oppoſed the Britiſh government becauſe it was arbitrary, and who now are in favour of one infinitely more ſo) and produced a propoſition from them, "That the matter ſhould ſubſide," as well the report as the amendment—thus you ſee that the repreſentatives of the people of this ſtate are not converts of federaliſm, a term which has the ſame meaning now which toryiſm had before the war."

The AMENDMENT mentioned in the above letter.

YOUR excellency is pleaſed to inform us, that the convention which was appointed to deliberate upon the conſtitution and frame a government for the United States of America, agreed upon by the late general convention, have concluded their ſeſſions after having adopted and ratified the propoſed plan. We have long been ſenſible of the imbecility of the confederation of the United States, and of the conſequences of that imbecility, and therefore appointed delegates to the late general convention, for the ſole and expreſs purpoſe of reviſing the articles of confederation, and reporting to congreſs and the ſeveral legiſlatures ſuch alterations and proviſions therein, as ſhall when agreed to in congreſs, and confirmed by the ſtates, render the federal conſtitution adequate to the exigencies of government and the preſervation of the union! If they had obſerved, and acted agreeably to their commiſſion, no difficulty perhaps would have ariſen from the numbers of a people ſpread over a vaſt extent of territory, containing ſuch a great variety of ſoils, and under ſuch extremes of climate, and with ſuch different views and habits while they were ſo well united in that one object, we are fully perſuaded that our national exiſtence might in that way have been preſerved with unanimity, tranquillity and peace. We do not wiſh to be known to the world under any other appellation than that of the United States.

In confederation and union with our ſiſter ſtates, we have happily baffled the intrigues and defeated the force of Great-Britain, have ſupported the rights of mankind, and ſecured the freedom and independence of America. While we wiſh to preſerve the union entire, and are fully ſenſible of the ill conſequences of an interruption of it, we are ſorry to differ from your excellency in the mode of effecting the firſt and avoiding the laſt. Every good government ſhould have for its objects, defence againſt external enemies, and the promotion of internal tranquility and happineſs. While we ſuſpend our opinion of the purity of intention, and of the great zeal for the intereſt and welfare with which the late convention aſſembled, we are in juſtice to our conſtituents conſtrained to ſay that the reſult of their deliberations does not ſeem well calculated for thoſe valuable purpoſes. we ſhall, under this head, only add, that the rights and liberties of a great country, ſhould ſtand on firmer ground than that of mere probability. If the amendments propoſed with the ratification of the late convention, had been made a condition of ratification, they would have gone ſome way, though not fully, to a conciliation of our minds to the ſyſtem, but your excellency will permit us to ſay, that, as they now ſtand, they neither comport with the dignity or ſafety of the commonwealth.

WINCHESTER, April 30.

Meſſrs. BRADFORDS, printers in Kentucky, having tranſmitted us their papers of the 27th of March and 5th of April, we are enabled to lay before our readers the following intereſting, though melancholy, intelligence:

LEXINGTON, March 27.

On Saturday evening, the 21ſt inſtant, ſome time after night, a party of about ſeven Indians knocked at the door of the widow Shanks, (living on Townſend, a branch of Licking) and demanded entrance, which was denied them; they then ſet fire to the houſe, and by that means forced the family out, four of which fell a ſacrifice to their ſavage fury, one taken priſoner, the reſt eſcaped. The ſnow falling that night enabled the inhabitants to follow them; they came up with them the next day, killed one and wounded another, the reſt eſcaped, leaving all their baggage. The priſoner they had taken they tomahawked, juſt before the white people came up with them; one other Indian was found dead near where they committed the murder, ſuppoſed to have been killed by a young man whom they killed the evening before.

March 28. Yeſterday evening the Indians caught hold of a young mans bridle, as he was riding along a ſmall path on Elkhorn, near where they had taken a negro a few days ago; it being dark, he ſlipt off his horſe, and made his eſcape.

Extract of a letter from a gentleman at Buck-Pond, (Kentucky) to another in this town, dated April 3, 1788.

"Our country begins to have a very ſerious face; the curſed Indians have been very troubleſome this ſpring. A few days ago a party of them had the reſolution to board three boats on the Ohio, oppoſite the mouth of the Miami, and only two men have eſcaped of the whole, and they badly wounded. Several gentlemen of conſiderable conſequence were killed in them, among the reſt a merchant from Baltimore. It is ſuppoſed the Indians got near 3000l. ſterling worth of plunder in goods and money; there has never been a week, for near two months, but what they have been in this neighbourhood doing miſchief. The people that have been ſettled peaceably for ſeveral years, are now obliged either to build ſtockades and fort themſelves, or leave their ſettlements—our men are ſo harraſſed purſuing the devils, who immediately fly to Eagle-Creek-Hills, where they are ſheltered from purſuit, and fall upon us as ſoon as they begin to get a little over the fright, do the worſt they can, and run away again before we can collect men."

Another letter from the ſame place ſays, "Among the unfortunate lately killed by the Indians here, is a Mr. Purviance, an old Iriſh gentleman, belonging to Baltimore."

ANNAPOLIS, May 15.

To the PEOPLE of MARYLAND.

YOU have been addreſſed by twelve gentlemen, members of the late convention, four of them members of a committee of that body, in which they ſtated the conduct of the convention, and the conduct of the committee. From the eſtabliſhed characters of the gentlemen who put their names to the addreſs, there is no reaſon to believe, that they willfully miſſtated any fact, or that they deſignedly omitted any material circumſtances, with intention to miſrepreſent the conduct of the convention, or the conduct of the majority of the committee, or to miſlead or deceive you. The gentlemen of the committee could only be fully and accurately informed of what paſſed in the committee; the ſame member of the convention muſt be acquainted with the circumſtances that are alleged to have happened in the convention. You are addreſſed by a perſon who calls himſelf One of the Committee, who conceives, "that the addreſs of the twelve has not only miſſtated certain facts, but omitted ſome very material circumſtances; and he informs you, that another narrative will be laid before you, and he prays you to ſuſpend, for the preſent, your opinion of the conduct of the majority of the committee." This aſſertion and requeſt would be more reaſonable if the gentleman had ſigned his name to it. He may be miſtaken, and there is a greater probability that one perſon may miſconceive a variety of facts, than the number who have teſtified to the truth of what they relate. I believe that no facts have been miſſtated in ſubſtance; and I am convinced, that no very material circumſtances have been omitted. If any fact has been ſubſtantially miſſtated, or any material circumſtance omitted, I make no doubt the public will impute it to inattention, defect of memory, or haſte, and not to any improper motive.

The member of the committee who addreſſed you remarks, "that as the convention was diſpoſed without propoſing any amendments, it is not probable that a large majority of its members was SANGUINE in diſpoſed for that buſineſs." The following facts, which no one can deny, will convince the public, that, for ſeveral days, a great majority of the convention thought the conſtitution very defective, and were ſincerely diſpoſed to conſider amendments, AFTER the ratification of the conſtitution, either in their conventional or private characters; and the difference of character is very immaterial. 1ſt fact. On Thurſday (24th April) Mr. Paca requeſted leave to lay before the convention a variety of amendments to the conſtitution, not to prevent, but to accompany the ratification; and the convention granted the indulgence without a diviſion, and adjourned to give him time to prepare and lay the amendments he propoſed before the convention. 2d fact. On Saturday (26th) the convention, on a vote of 66 to 7, appointed a committee "to conſider and report (on the Monday following) a draught of ſuch amendments as the committee might think neceſſary, to be recommended to the conſideration of the people, if approved of by the convention." 3d fact. The convention referred the amendments propoſed to the conſtitution, by Mr. Paca, to the committee.

I believe a majority of the committee were ſincerely diſpoſed, for ſome time, to recommend amendments; and I form this opinion from their conduct, and the number of eſſential amendments ſeparately agreed to by the committee, moſt of them by an unanimous vote, and all of them by a great majority.

I believe the true reaſon why the majority of the committee would agree to no report (and thereby withheld to preclude the convention from judging for themſelves) was diſcloſed by one of the committee in public debate. He declared, in ſubſtance, "That if no amendments were conſidered by the convention and referred to the people, the idea would be, that the conſtitution was perfect in the opinion of the convention, and therefore that it wanted no alteration; that he would not have admitted any defect but to conciliate; that he was apprehenſive the convention would be involved in difficulties, that they might be drawn by the minority from one amendment to another, and would not be able to ſtop; that they would be led to give opinions on parts of the conſtitution, contrary to their deciſion to determine on the whole, and not on parts; and that by agreeing to a number of amendments they would give an advantage to the opponents of the government, who would repreſent that it's friends admitted, that it was greatly defective, and wanted eſſential amendments, and that from ſuch conceſſions they would urge the people to believe that the convention ought not to have ratified the conſtitution, unleſs the alterations were previouſly made, or annexed as a condition to the ratification; that if the great majority of the convention in this ſtate, who had ratified the government, ſhould admit it to be ſo very defective, and to want ſuch material amendments, and ſhould publiſh them to the world, it might produce bad conſequences in Virginia, and the other ſtates, who had not ratified, where the opponents of the government might be equal, or nearly equal, in number to it's friends; and that policy required that the members, who had voted for the ratification, should set their faces against ANY amendment."—What reasons influenced the majority of the convention to change their opinions, respecting amendments (and that they did change their opinions no man can doubt) cannot be ascertained with any precision. A few may act by system, and be governed by some general principles of policy; but the many have no system, and their reasons are as various as their numbers.

If the majority of the committee should not publish their narrative, the gentleman, who addresses you, can point out the facts, and the material circumstances, he apprehends to have been misstated, or omitted, by the minority.

A MEMBER of CONVENTION.

E L E G Y

To an American abroad.

WHEN distant scenes thy vivid fancy fire,
And novelty her thousand smiles displays—;
Calm e'en the pulse of elegant desire,
Nor mingle sentiment in passion's blaze.

E'en the soft thrills which gentler bosoms burn,
Which virtue feels—e'en act, to thought is giv'n;
These e'en may bid th' unguarded bosom mourn,
It's soft responses to the voice of Heaven.

For sure if aught amid our whimsy pow'rs,
The meed of praise—or name of Heav'n demands;
'Tis that soft thrill that flings its balmy show'rs,
Where whispers love, or pity rears her hands.

'Tis that soft thrill which Mira's eyes disclose,
When virtue droops—or merit sinks in shame;
That streams the tear to sympathetic woes,
And warms thy breast, cold sorrow, with its flame.

Ah 'tis that thrill too! which o'er Juliet's face,
The veil of saddening repentance flings—:
That mingles with her fading form, disgrace—
And points a new seduction's lingering stings.

Each feeling check—of torture or of bliss,
Sense and true taste admit of no extremes:
Fools fondly seek enjoyment in excess;
And sleep in Eden, by embracing dreams.

E'en in the thought most dear to warmer souls,
Let not thy fancy paint her forms too fair—:
Think not thy friends—'tween whom an ocean rolls—
Partake thy pleasures—or divide thy care.

For when around thee on thy native strand,
They cluster thick—with gay inquiring eye—:
'Tis mem'ry yields their dull unmeaning hand—[sigh.
While warmth and truth both prompt thy bursting

A stranger thou amidst thy friends shalt move,
With naught the withering lapse of time to heal:
And scarce one breast shall own thy early love—;
And none thine awkward fondness deign to feel.

Fat prejudice with dull unanswer'd tongue,
Her knell shall ring, with bigotry of sound—:
Envy rejoice to see thy bosom wrung—
And praise intentional produce a wound.

And beauty's eye all potent as a god!
Shall look suspicion with mysterious air—;
Arraign, though silent, every scene thou'll trod,
First pierce—then drive, thy bosom to dispair.

And what avails that thou with trembling hand,
To call the sweets of various thought essay'd—;
Deck'd out thy garland for thy native land,
To see it doom'd to dark oblivion's shade.

Each soft refining of the polish'd heart,
With all the luxury of a mind illum'd,
Shall wear the semblance but of skilful art,
And to suspicion's lingering curse be doom'd.

That light which sheds a glory round the head,
The pow'r shall seem, and with, of mighty harm:
The various gift in love's soft bow'r to plead,
Appear a pestilence and cease to charm.

Then full with keen remembrance thou wilt tread,
The mouldering tombs—and weep o'er friendship's stone—
And in thy silent suffering mid the dead,
Forget, though living, that thou too—"art gone"!

AN unjust and false report having been raised, and industriously propagated, by some malicious person, on Saturday afternoon, the 26th ultimo, that the governor refused to lend the citizens of Annapolis some of the public powder to celebrate the adoption of the new constitution by the convention, before it was ratified, urging, "That he did not consider himself at liberty to consume the public powder without the advice of his council," and we having heard the said report, incautiously mentioned the same in company, without further inquiry to ascertain the authenticity of the report, we therefore take this public method of declaring, that upon examination we found that the said report was unjust and utterly void of foundation, and that the governor, upon application on behalf of the citizens, previous to and after the said report had prevailed, without the least hesitation, always expressed the utmost readiness to lend the citizens such ammunition and ordnance as they might want, and to that purport gave orders to the armourer for the delivery without further reserve, than that he should take a receipt for the same; in justice therefore to his excellency's conduct upon this occasion, and his readiness to oblige the citizens, we think it our duty to contradict the said report, and to acknowledge, that on full inquiry we have found the same to be groundless, and void of truth.

To be SOLD, at PUBLIC SALE, on Saturday the thirty-first instant, at the dwelling plantation of the late Mr. James Jordan,

A NUMBER of very valuable NEGROES, consisting of men, women, boys and girls; some of the women have been bred to house work and are very handy; also at the same time will be sold a variety of excellent furniture. Twelve months credit will be given, on giving bond with approved security.

GEORGE GOLDIE.

April 30, 1788.

To be SOLD, to the highest bidder, on Wednesday the 4th of June next, if fair, if not the next fair day,

THE plantation whereon the subscriber now lives, lying in Prince-George's county, about a mile from Rock Creek church, between Bladensburgh and George-town, and is very convenient to several very good grist and saw mills; the situation of this land I think equal to any in the state for trade, and the soil is suitable for planting or farming, there being plenty of excellent meadow ground on it, some in grass, and much more may be very easily improved. There is excellent fruit of all kinds, apple trees sufficient to make 3 or 4 thousand gallons of cyder a year, when the trees bear, and they seldom miss, more or less every year; there are two very good dwelling houses joined together by a passage of ten feet, laid with brick, the one is 24 by 16 with a cellar under the whole, walled with stone, the other is 16 by 24, the whole planked above and below, with several convenient lodging rooms, kitchen, milk house, meat house, quarter, corn house, hen house, &c. &c.

I think it needless to say any more unless the quantity should be too small (which is about 300 acres) I am authorised to sell two other parcels of land, adjoining each other, and lay very well together, the whole being about 650 acres; some of this land I think equal to any in this part of the county, if not superior; it is presumed no person would choose to purchase either of the above lands without viewing them first, which may be seen at any time before the day of sale, by applying to

ABRAHAM BOYD.

RAN away from the subscriber, on the 11th day of April, a negro man named JOE, aged about twenty-four years, five feet nine or ten inches high, of a yellow complexion, and is a good ditcher; had on and took with him when he eloped a negro cotton jacket with sleeves, a short London brown cloth coat with white buttons, an old brown holland ditto, a pair of green breeches, and a pair of Virginia cloth ditto filled in with black yarn. Whoever apprehends the aforesaid negro shall have a reward of one guinea, and for bringing him home, at the rate of six pence per mile.

WILLIAM EDWARDS.

VENETIAN,

WILL stand for mares this season, at Mrs. Disney's plantation near South-river church, at three guineas each mare, and a dollar to the groom.

VENETIAN is a fine bay, fifteen hands one inch high, with length and bone in proportion. He was bred by Sir James Pennyman, bart. of Yorkshire, and got by Doge, his dam by Jennison Shaftoe Snap, sire to Goldfinder, Gnawpott, Dasey and other good runners, his grand-dam by old Fox. Doge was bred by captain Wentworth, and got by Regulus, son of the Godolphin Arabian, his dam by Crab, his grand dam by Dycar's Dimple, which was got by Leed's Arabian, his dam by old Shanker, a son of the Darey Yellow Turk, out of a daughter of Dodsworth Leed's Arabian, was the sire of Leed's, also Basto, Old Fox, and the grand-dam of Childers. It is unnecessary to gasconate any thing in favour of the figure of this horse or performance, every gentleman that has seen him, thinks him the handsomest ever imported into this state. He covers two guineas lower than he ought, owing to the scarcity of cash. Grass for mares at half a dollar per week, but will not be answerable for escapes or accidents; no mares will be served, without the money is sent with them.

March 10, 1788.

Venetian at five years old won the king's plate at New-Castle, and the fifty pounds for all ages; same week beating ——— Penwick, Esq; famous mare Spider Brusher, and several others; fifteen days after won the king's plate at Carlisle, beating Bonmot, a famous horse of lord Surry's, and in the same year, in August, run second to High Flyer, being thought the best horse in England. Venetian was a horse of great speed, and, in constitution, equal to any horse. As witness our hands,

THE subscriber having obtained a deed from his Brother Thomas, of all his property, requests those who are indebted for rent to make immediate payment, and those who have any demands are desired to bring in their accounts legally proved, that they may be discharged by the subscriber, who will lease for a term of years, on the most reasonable lay, an excellent fulling mill and saw-mill; the latter will want some repairs. Terms to be made known, by applying to RAN away from the subscriber, living in Charles county, four negroes, two men and two women; the men about five feet eight inches high, each tolerably black, one about thirty-five years of age, and the other about nineteen, each of them had on a white drillen coat, and one a red waistcoat, black breeches, and a pair of boots; the women are of a tolerable yellow complexion, one of them had on a red mantle and a black hat, the other a white mantle and gray hat, and had with them two forged passes, signed by one John Townsend Eaton, one of them on brown paper, badly wrote and spelt. FIVE POUNDS REWARD.

April 13, 1788.

RAN away, on the 30th of March last, from the subscriber, living near Annapolis, a negro man named JEM, about twenty-one years old, five feet four or five inches high, a likely well made fellow, his toe next to his great toe upon his right foot turns up on the other, and is shorter than the rest, has a scar upon his left shoulder, occasioned by a burn when small; had on a country cloth jacket and breeches, wove kersey, white jean jacket, new osnabrig shirt, yarn stockings, old shoes, and felt hat. Whoever takes up and secures the said negro, so that his master may get him again, shall receive twenty shillings if taken above ten miles from home, twenty-five shillings if twenty miles, thirty five shillings if out of the county and thirty miles from home forty five shillings, and if out of the state the above reward, including what the law allows, paid by 3X JOHN WORTHINGTON, jun.

Forty Silver Dollars, or Five Half Joes Reward,

FOR apprehending one of the most unprincipled fellows in the state of Maryland, a dark mulatto slave named DICK, who absconded yesterday evening; he is about five feet eight inches high, well made and active, is about 28 years of age, has a scar by the right eye, which is very obvious upon examination; had with him an old turn'd cloth coat, jacket and breeches, yarn stockings, osnabrig shirt and trousers, a felt hat, a pair of shoes and steel buckles, with a few other cloathes, but if possible by any stroke of villainy to acquire more, I make no doubt he will effect it.—If caught great care ought to be taken to secure him properly, as he is master of such address that there is few people on whom he would not impose; he ran away about three months ago, and was brought from Red Stone, but I conjecture that he will now make to the eastern shore, or to the Delaware state, or Pennsylvania, or endeavour to get on board some vessel. I will give the above reward to any person who will put him in Baltimore gaol, so that I get him again, or in addition thereto all reasonable travelling charges when delivered to me in the upper part of Anne-Arundel county and state of Maryland.

CHARLES ALEXANDER WARFIELD.

N. B. All masters of vessels and others are forewarned harbouring or carrying him off at their peril.

ROEBUCK.

THE beautiful thorough bred horse ROEBUCK, ten years old next spring, the property of the subscriber, will cover the ensuing season at the subscriber's plantation in Charles county, at five pounds current money a mare, but if paid by the first day of August next, three pounds, and a dollar to the groom, will be received in lieu of five pounds. It is useless to insert his pedigree, as it is so well known, but it may be seen at his stable. Good pasturage is provided for mares that come a distance, gratis, and great care will be taken of them, but will not be answerable for accidents or escapes.

ELOPED, on the 24th of March last, from his duty, as an apprentice, legally bound to the subscriber, a certain John Cartright Davis, who has at least eighteen months of his time to serve; and for what reason he has made this breach, is unknown to his said master; therefore this is to forewarn all persons, at their peril, from employing, harbouring, or concealing the said apprentice.

3X BARNABY GREENWELL.

Annapolis, April 29, 1788.

THE subscribers being very anxious that an immediate payment of what is due them be made, that they may be enabled to comply with their engagements, in order to facilitate the collection, have appointed Mr. John Watkins, to call upon all those who have accounts with them for the same, whose receipt shall be good; they beg that this notice be particularly attended to, as it is not in their power to give any further indulgence; those who incline to call and pay at Annapolis, will always find a person at their late store on the Dock, or at the treasury office, ready to receive.
